

Keynote Speaker: Jamie Winship

Jamie has learned what it takes for individuals to discover the transformative power of living fearlessly in their true identity from decades of work bringing peaceful solutions to some of the world's highest conflict areas.

After a distinguished career in law enforcement in the metro Washington, DC area, Jamie had a unique opportunity to bring his identity-centric approach of transformation to the field of education. He earned an MA in English and accepted a position at a university in Indonesia. Jamie developed a unique language acquisition program based on the Identity Method premise: identity transformation is the key to acquiring new levels of learning in any field. His work drew the attention of Fulbright and other educational institutions which extended his work worldwide over the past several decades.

Along with his wife Donna, Jamie is the co-founder of Identity Method - a training and consulting company, committed to significantly enhancing the resiliency level of clients by teaching them the transformative power of living fearlessly in their true identity.
