

Alumni Scholar News

Jessica Epley Burchette (Class of 2006) was selected for the College-wide Faculty Teaching Award at ETSU reflecting her work over the past academic year.

Nick Darnell (Class of 2006) has accepted a position as assistant principal at West View Middle School, in Hamblen County.

Morgan Hammer Krapf (Class of 2006) was named chief of gynecology at Virtua Memorial Hospital, in New Jersey.

Dustin Howser (Class of 2017) accepted a position as mechanical engineer with Nuclear Fuel Services, in Erwin.

Courtney Johnson (Class of 2019) began Physical Therapy school at South College in October.

Jordan Kim (Class of 2012) completed his residency at Family Medicine Residency in Chattanooga. He is practicing family medicine at CHI Memorial Integrative Medicine Associates in Chattanooga.

Jason Light (Class of 2013) successfully completed the Principles and Practice of Engineering Examination in Electrical Power. He is now a licensed professional engineer (PE), in the state of Tennessee.

Virginia Hines Pfeifer (Class of 2007) was promoted to Senior Director for Care Performance Solutions at Optum Analytics.

McKenzie Reynolds (Class of 2018) accepted a position as Staff Auditor at Blackburn, Childers & Steagall in Johnson City.

Katie Shields Arnold (Class of 2017) accepted a teaching position with Jefferson County High School in the Agriculture program.

Dillan Shults (Class of 2018) is pursuing a Reliability Engineering Certification at Clemson University in the Spring. He was elected as a Director for the Coker County A&I Fair Board. He was selected to serve on the Board of Chapter Advisors for Phi Gamma Delta at the UT Knoxville Chapter.

Richard Vradenburgh (Class of 2016) completed his master's degree in Mathematics at University of Virginia. He is now pursuing a PhD at University of Georgia.

Yaying Wang (Class of 2014) accepted a position with CVS MinuteClinic in Durham, North Carolina as a Physician Assistant. She is a volunteer at Neighbor Health Center, the only faith based federally approved primary care clinic in North Carolina.

Kayla West (Class of 2012) is pursuing certification as a perinatal mental health specialist.

Trenton Yount (Class of 2019) accepted a position as Thermal Design Engineer with Raycap/Stealth in Charleston, South Carolina.